

"Obama - Biden - Laden" or "Osama Bin Laden"?

Contributed by admin
Sunday, 24 August 2008
Last Updated Sunday, 24 August 2008

This week I got perplexed by the unauthorized use of the "holly name" of the Osama Bin Laden family name in the democrat aliance (Obama - Biden). Just a fool to not get the double meaning of the pair of words.

Haven't the Democrat party realized that such combination would produce terrible comparisons, creating in the soul of the masses the horrible thoughts of a recent history?

It's too obvious that the use "Obama - Biden" was created purposefully due marketing reasons, no one in good conscience would be able to declare that such combination and comparison wouldn't be certainly made by the common people.

But the question isn't that. The point is that using such immoral propaganda technique goes far beyond the bearable. It is pure and simply outrageous as it plays with the suffering of thousands of american families.

I really believe that, only for it, Mr. Obama should be kicked from any serious presidential race, and more than that, sued for an act that crosses the border of mere immorality, since it clearly cause a pain in the hearts of many decent citizens.

What's going to be the next Obama move? To invite Osama Bin Laden to take part in the government?